

Understanding urban flooding events in the U.S

Student Mentor: Indrani Pal

The central objective of this study will be to understand how select patterns of urbanization and climate variation modify urban flooding events and their impacts in settings such as New York City.