The screenshot shows the ArcGIS Story Maps editor interface. At the top, there is a browser window with the URL <https://storymaps.arcgis.com/stories/020a7939224b4b099e6651315b28578f/edit>. Below the browser, the editor toolbar includes a back arrow, a 'Draft' button, a 'Saved' indicator, and buttons for 'Design', 'Preview', and 'Publish'. The main content area displays the title 'My First Story Maps' and a large cover image. The cover image shows a man in a dark jacket standing in a snowy field, working with scientific equipment. In the background, there is a red brick building and a chain-link fence. Below the cover image, the title 'My First Story Maps' is displayed in a large, bold, dark font. Underneath the title, there is a subtitle placeholder: 'Start with a short introduction or subtitle (optional)'. At the bottom left, the author's name 'Tarendra Lakhankar' and the status 'Draft' are shown.

Swipe

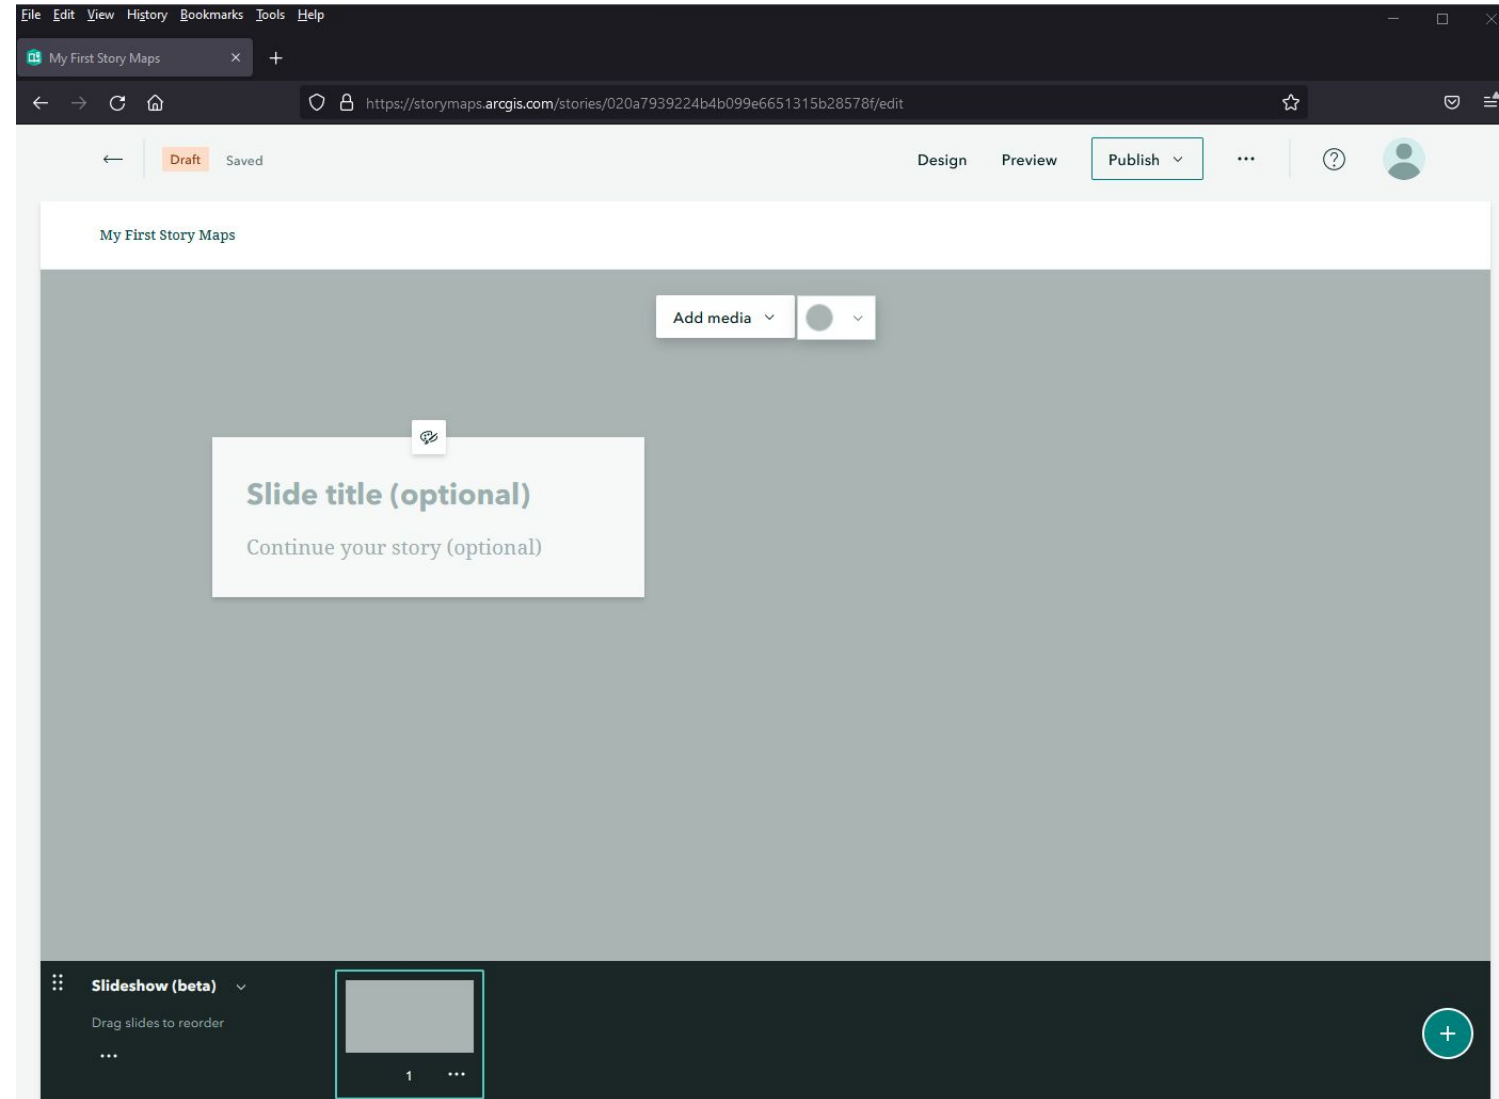

The screenshot shows the ArcGIS Story Maps editor interface. At the top, there is a menu bar with 'File', 'Edit', 'View', 'History', 'Bookmarks', 'Tools', and 'Help'. Below the menu bar is a browser address bar showing the URL 'https://storymaps.arcgis.com/stories/020a7939224b4b099e6651315b28578f/edit'. The main workspace is divided into a left sidebar and a main content area. The sidebar contains a preview of the 'Swipe' widget, which shows two maps side-by-side with a central slider. Below the preview is the title 'Swipe' and a description: 'Let readers easily compare two maps or images with an interactive slider'. The main content area shows the 'Swipe' widget being configured. It features a central slider and two columns of options: 'Add image', 'Add web map', and 'Add express map'. Below the widget, there is a text prompt: 'Add a caption (optional)'. The bottom of the editor shows a map of Long Island.
